CAPT. FRANKLIN

El Paso Officer With a Fine Military Career in the Philippines, Is Given Clear Record by President

West Point, N. Y., Aug. 14.-Word has been received here that president Wil-son has granted an unconditional par-don to former Capt. Thomas Franklin, U. S. A., who from 1902 to 1908 was treasurer of the Military Academy and quartermaster and commissary for the battalion of cadets and was convicted of a shortage of accounts. Capt Frank-lin's superior officers very highly com-mended his services during the Philppine insurrection and Boxer rebellion in China and his case attracted widespread attention five years ago. At the time of the trial there was much sympathy for the captain in army and official circles, both because it was be-lieved that he had been guilty only of R. E. Banner went to El Paso this negligence and not of intentional wrongdoing, and on account of his fine record. His sentence was commuted after a few months and his resignation from the army was accepted.

The unconditional pardon restores to Capt. Franklin all the rights of citizenship. His former official associates here speak very highly of him and express much elation at the outcome. Many openly charge that the case against him was the result of official malice and jealousy.

Capt. Franklin is now superintend-ent of the El Paso dairy, eight miles below El Paso, which position he has held for more than two years, and his active work as an administrator have done much to modernize and bring the plant up to a very high standard. Capl. Franklin is a Texan and was appointed to the army from San Antonio. He is a soninlaw of postmaster J. A. Smith.

Ambassador Will Not Be Given His Vacation, But Will Be Fired for Taiking Too Much.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—Henry Lane Wilson will be fired from the diplomatic service without his two months' vacation, according to the present outlook. Like the parrot, he has talked too dashed much, in the opinion of his superiors.

Meantime, Mr. Lind, the ambassador's real successor, is keeping quiet in Mexico and biding his time to do something—just what the administration does not say.

Powers Are Sounded.

Powers acunded by the United States have agreed generally that they will do nothing to embarrass the peace policy of president Wilson toward Mexico, and are inclined to support it.

President Wilson, when he read exambassador Henry Lane Wilson's statement, was so incensed at its tone and contenits that he promptly requested secretary Bryan to ascertain through the British embassy here whether the utterance of the British foreign office as reported was correct, and the dismissal of ambassador Wilson by summary acceptance of his resignation, to take effect immediately, is under consideration.

Ambassador Wilson's views are at Ambassador Wilson's views are at Ambassador Wilson's views are at variance with those of the administration, and it is said president Wilson is not disposed to permit any attacks upon the British government by a United States official, which ambassador Wilson would continue to be until October. Administration officials take particular exception to the ambassador's remark, "if this statement really emanated from the British foreign office, it is at variance with its traditions and the character which it has maintained before the world for two centuries."

It was pointed out that should the British government's statement prove authentic, which it is believed here to be the case, the American government would be in an embarrassing position of maintaining an official who had criticised a friendly nation.

Wilson is "In Had."

Disapproval was also voiced in administration circles over the ambassador's reference to the recognition of the Huerta administration by European governments "after waiting vainly for the Huerta administration by European governments "after waiting vainly for the recognition of the government of the united States, which they universally thought should be accorded."

Official notice had hitberto not been taken of the ambassador's criticism of the administration; policy, as published in interviews, but secretary Bryan has now decided to Inquire of ambassador Wilson, who is now in Washington, whether he had authorized the statement given to the newspapers by him.

Dispatches from John Lind, personal representative in Morte.

Washington, whether he had authorized the statement given to the newspapers by him.

Dispatches from John Lind, personal representative in Mexico of president Wilson, indicate that he is in personal touch with Federico Gambon, Mexican minister of foreign affairs, and is preparing to submit the representations of the United States on the restoration of peace in Mexico.

Europe is Waiting.

Chief interest centers in the administration's attitude toward ambassador Wilson's remarks concerning the British government and the confirmation that European governments were disposed to lend their moral support to president Wilson's pelicy. It is learned that many of the foreign governments feel the Mexican problem to be peculiarly within the prevince of American diplomacy, and, though they may take no affirmative action, they will not interfere with the peace program for a constitutionally established government through which president Wilson believes all foreign interests ultimately can best be conserved.

The American government has learned some of these things only by indirection, but within the last two days the developments in Japan and Great Britain—two nations which had hitherto recognized the Huerra government—indicating to officials here that these governments were suspending judgment, has been taken as a concrete evidence of a favorable attitude by foreign governments toward the peace policy. Japan's declination to receive Gen. Felix Diaz, special ambassador sent by president Huerta, is officially confirmed.

"They accused me of rebuilding 200 miles of the Mexican Central track during the time that the Maderistas were in control. It is true that I rebuilt the road. We needed cement and there were 100 cars of it in Chihuabua. In order to get them to the dam we had to have a railroad, so I built it.

"They accused me of smuggling ammunition into the dam in sacks of cement and demanded that I build houses for the natives there. The rebels held me up on several occasions and I was compelled to pay over $13,000 to the causes of revolution in Mexico.

"Both sides had threatened me at times, but the Maderistas are generally good fellows. The only way to end this revolution is to give them all the arms and ammunition they want, and in two months there will be no revolution in Chihuahua. It only requires 200 Maderistas to lick 3000 felerals.

"We had as many as 4000 men employed at the Conchos river project, which is being promoted by Canadian and British capital, but only 500 are at work there now, and these will soon be discharged."

MEXICO MUST SHOW GOOD FAITH TO U. S.

Extraditions for Political Offences Will Not be Tolerated by Present Administration. Washington, D. C. Aug. 14.—Action of attorney general McReynolds in ordering the release under $10,000 bond of Emmanual C. Brito, who was being held at New Orleans at the request of the Mexican government, charged with extraditable offences, is regarded in official circles as practically a decision that the American administration in the future will look with disfavor on requests of arrest and detention of persons on criminal charges, when in reality their offences are political.

This was practiced by the Mexican government under the Diaz and Madere regime.

Summer-Spoiled Skin Removed by Absorption

(From Home Queen.)

As undue summer exposure usually leaves an undesirable surface of tan. dust or grease, often freckles, too, it would seem more sensible to remove such surface than to hide it with cosmetics. There's nothing better for this than ordinary mercollsed wax, which actually absorbs an unwholesome com-plexion. The thin layer of surface skin is itself absorbed, gently and gradually. so there's no inconvenience and no detention indoors. Just spread the wax detention indoors. Just spread the wax lightly over the entire face at bedtime and take it off in the morning with warm water. If you will get one ounce of mercolized wax at the drug store and use for a week or so, you may expect marked improvement daily. When the underlying skin is wholly in view the underlying skin is wholly in view your complexion will be a marvel of spotiess purity and beautiful whiteness. Don't let those summer wrinkles worry you; worry wil breed more wrinkles. Better to banish them by bathing the face in a solution of powdered saxelite, I oz dissolved in 1-2 pt. witch hazel. Used daily for awhile this will be found wonderfully effective. Advertisement.
